What's Happening in the Vineyard

We have had a warm January and a couple of wet days in the Swan Valley - the warmth this year means an even ripening for vintage! So, we will probably be making greater organic wine than usual! The vineyard is very happy; we have already picked our madeleine and verdelho grapes.

New tasting arrangements.

Now at Harris Organic Winery you can do a seated tasting of our wines. Sit and relax, chat with your friends and discuss the samples with Duncan the organic winemaker. We reckon it is much better than standing at the bar. Let us know what you think about it next time you visit.

Have you tried our 2016 Chardonnay recently? It has been well received at our cellar door over the holiday period, and with only a few cases remaining, you had better be quick if you want some. Organic Chardonnay
